

The great OUTDOORS

Have you noticed that when the sun is out, London becomes a completely different city? The city suddenly includes activities and locations that you could only dream of in winter.

You've probably walked past them many times in winter, oblivious, while you struggle with your umbrella. But allow us to open your eyes and behold the secret summer spots of London City.

Royal Festival Hall Roof Garden, Southbank

If you fancy having a few glasses of vino with your girlfriends, surrounded by a herb and vegetable garden, whilst overlooking the Thames then head to the Royal Festival Hall's Roof Garden. With panoramic views of Big Ben and Houses of Parliament, you really will be able to feel London's buzz.

The Royal Festival Hall is also this month home to the BAFTA TV awards, so it really is the place to be. For more exclusivity join the Southbank Centre for the members' only club, and you'll be chinking over the finest views!

Southbank Centre
Belvedere Road
London SE1 8XX

The Rooftop Film Club

If you've ever experienced the Rooftop Cinema, you'll know how hard it is to go back to watching films at your ordinary multiplex. There is no better way to enjoy your favourite film than on a rooftop with amazing views of London, your favourite cocktail...

NEXT PAGE

Every thing
But the Dress

KURT GEIGER

WWW.KURTGEIGER.COM

friendly staff, and 200 other strangers who are just obsessed with the film as you are.

Rooftop Cinema shows all the classics like Back to the Future, Purple Rain, The Bodyguard and Some Like it Hot. But be warned: you've got to be quick off the mark. Films for the Rooftop Cinema often sell out weeks in advance. Join the mailing list, be vigilant, and get to the very front of the queue for your film choice.

THE GARDEN MUSEUM CAFE

Lambeth Palace Rd, London SE1

Imagine being in a secluded retreat full of fresh herbs and flowers yet still in the heart of London. The Garden Museum café at Lambeth Palace offers the freshest of herbs and vegetables on their menu, grown in the garden itself and to accompany, how about a glass of English wine or Chegworth apple juice?

With seasonal lunches on offer, you can enjoy the peace and quiet that nature has to offer whilst sharing a garden inspired cake with a loved one. Romantic, unique and a fabulous place to feel like a real country girl, without the hassle of travelling out of town!

Imagine being in a secluded retreat full of fresh herbs and flowers yet still in the heart of London

PREVIOUS PAGE

THE BOUNDARY

2-4 Boundary Street, Shoreditch, E2

Being at Boundary Rooftop feels like being in a luxury winter cabin, complete with chopped firewood, a roaring fireplace and Welsh blankets. It's cosy but contemporary, and offers some of the most astonishing panoramic views of the City. It has a grill restaurant with a large bar, and is a great place to have a relaxed lunch with friends over the weekend.

The Rooftop is open from March 30 to September 30, weather conditions permitting.

NEXT PAGE

Everything But the Dress

KURT GEIGER

WWW.KURTGEIGER.COM

